how should one approach the task of theology this spectrum volume brings together five evangelical theologians with distinctly different approaches to the theological task who present their own approach and respond to each of the other views emerging from this theological conversation is an awareness of our methodological commitments and the benefits that each can bring to the theological task the art of persuasion as practised today in political debate as well as in the courts of law has been developed in the rhetorical tradition but its authors have disappeared from view one of them was quintilian who wrote his institutio oratoria at the end of the first century ad this book is special because it contains one of the fullest surveys of rhetorical insights ever written and because it has come down to us in its entirety Quintilian's rhetorical system has been used in teaching rhetoric at universities since the middle ages the purpose of Quintilian and the law is to reintroduce Quintilian's Institutio Oratoria to modern readers and to show that the topics discussed in it are still very much alive today to that end modern experts of law and rhetoric present their views on the Institutio Oratoria each dealing with one of the twelve books of which it consists the authors were free to choose their own way of working so that some books are described in their entirety others are discussed from one particular point of view and others still are treated only with regard to a particular section in Roman times the shortest way to a political career was by working in the law courts there one could acquire a reputation for having a thorough knowledge of the law and for being able to speak well in public in his Institutio Oratoria Quintilian not only formulated important insights in juridical argumentation in the art of speech writing and in the performative aspects of advocacy he also discussed the ethical problems involved because Quintilian larded his instructions with numerous examples from practice his book takes us back into the Roman law courts and helps us experience their exciting atmosphere the essays in this book reflect the wide range of subjects discussed by Quintilian they deal with one of six themes 1 the ideal orator in a historical perspective 2 his education 3 rhetoric and communication 4 argumentation 5 Roman law in the Institutio Oratoria and 6 emotions in the courtroom however in honour of its author they are arranged in the order of the Institutio Oratoria

the design arts from the design of buildings and machines to software and interfaces are associated with types of knowledge and performance thought to be structured modular and systematic such arts have become increasingly prestigious in our technocratic society since aristotle the art of rhetoric was conceived as a loosely structured practical art thought to be limited in the extent to which it could mimic more precise subject matters the art of rhetoric has been controversial since classical times but its status has sunk even lower since the industrial revolution a point when civic cultures began to cede authority and control to the cultures of specialized experts many sympathizers of rhetoric have resisted its decline by calling for a civic art of public discourse to stand in opposition to a technocratic specialized discourse that has come increasingly to disenfranchise the ordinary citizen this is the first book to question the rhetoric technical knowledge split from a more fundamental perspective to get some perspective on what is at stake in rhetoric s traditional classification as a practical art the authors explore the distinction between practical and design arts enumerate the various criteria cited in the literature for qualifying a cluster of knowledge and performative skills to count as an art of design show how the knowledge and performative skills associated with the art of rhetoric meet the major requirements of design knowledge propose a general architecture of rhetorical design one descriptive both of civic address and specialized academic argument turn to the lincoln douglas debates to embody and provide some empirical support and illustration for their architecture demonstrate how lincoln and douglas can be thought of as expert designers whose rhetoric is highly structured and modular and explain how the rhetoric of both rhetorical agents can be represented in the layers and modules that one needs to display plans for buildings software or other design artifacts these layers and modules are not just post hoc annotations of the debates they also illuminate new and systematic ways for viewing the debates and by implication other specimens of rhetoric in terms of strategies of artistic production kaufer and butler conclude their presentation by citing some of the research and educational implications that follow from housing rhetoric within the family of design arts
