the experience of displacement is shared by people who work internationally the capacity to be displaced is a necessary strength and skill for people working across cultures particularly for missionaries in order to deal with the stressful nature of displacement people need to be resilient resilience makes people flourish in adverse circumstances this volume presents a specific type of resilience namely resilience nourished by inner sources cultivating inner resilience draws on all the facets of a person s interior life thoughts and memories hopes and desires beliefs and convictions concerns and emotions the notion of inner strength and resilience from within is developed using many examples from missionaries and development workers as well as case studies from all over the world this exhaustive theology of missions focuses on theory and biblical mandates for missions as a vital part of theology george peters a foremost missions authority considers both liberal and conservative views although his own stance is solidly evangelical this study of the pioneer mission to the zulu people differs from others in south african mission studies by offering a more nuanced understanding of the relationship between mission and church during the formative stages in the making of an african christian community both in america and in british natal critical scholars continue to view the western mission enterprise as an adjunct if not a tool of colonialism or at best a clash of cultures between white mission powerbrokers and powerless black christian acolytes the author argues that they were partners from the beginning and in this endeavor the christian identities of the missionaries as well as the zulu were changed forever
