the decline in educational standards from a public good to a quasi monopoly is about the commodification of education and the factors that have changed education from a public good into a commodity over the last 50 years when we look at today s education we see that academic standards in public education have been declining for decades even as education funding has reached nearly a trillion dollars per year to fund such failed programs as no child left behind and common core simultaneously tuition and fees at public universities have increased nearly 2000 percent over the last 30 years and student loan debt is now a staggering 1 5 trillion quite simply education has become big business this book examines the various issues associated with the commodification of education especially neoliberalism and privatized keynesianism what they are how they developed and how they have affected education and public policy it argues that neoliberalism and the related socioeconomic shift to debt based consumerism are at the center of commodification leading to a significant decline in the exchange value of a college degree it also argues that we cannot understand the changes in our public and higher education systems without examining the historical social economic and political factors that have essentially created an education system that is significantly different from what it was in the not so distant past learning strategies for critical thinking are a vital part of today s curriculum as students have few additional opportunities to learn these skills outside of school environments therefore it is essential that educators be given practical strategies for improving their critical thinking skills as well as methods to effectively provide critical thinking skills to their students the research anthology on developing critical thinking skills in students is a vital reference source that helps to shift and advance the debate on how critical thinking should be taught and offers insights into the significance of critical thinking and its effective integration as a cornerstone of the educational system highlighting a range of topics such as discourse analysis skill assessment and measurement and critical analysis techniques this multi volume book is ideally designed for teachers instructors instructional designers curriculum developers education professionals administrators policymakers researchers and academicians

this book examines the challenges of cross professional comparisons and proposes new forms of performance assessment to be used in professions education it addresses how complex issues are learned and assessed across and within different disciplines and professions in order to move the process of performance assessment for learning to the next level in order to be better equipped to cope with increasing complexity change and diversity in professional education and performance assessment administrators and educators will engage in crucial systems thinking the main question discussed by the book is how the required competence in the performance of students can be assessed during their professional education at both undergraduate and graduate levels to answer this question the book identifies unresolved issues and clarifies conceptual elements for performance assessment it reviews the development of constructs that cross disciplines and professions such as critical thinking clinical reasoning and problem solving it discusses what it means to instruct and assess students within their own domain of study and across various roles in multiple contexts but also what it means to instruct and assess students across domains of study in order to judge integration and transfer of learning outcomes finally the book examines what it takes for administrators and educators to develop competence in assessment such as reliably judging student work in relation to criteria from multiple sources the co editors of this volume marcia mentkowski and paul f wimmers are associated with two institutions whose characters are so intimately associated with the insight that assessment must be integrated with curriculum and instructional program if it is to become a powerful influence on the educational process lee shulman stanford university this volume provides a synthesis of protocols and strategies to support assessment leaders in effectively using data for educator preparation program improvement data informed decision making has become increasingly important in quality assurance for both internal and external audiences yet there are scant resources to guide those charged with managing the development and application of data for monitoring and improving the quality of their programs until this work there has been little explication of how assessment directors working in educator preparation should conceptualize organize and implement best practices in data collection analysis interpretation and sharing as state and national expectations for evidence of quality are growing it is essential to chronicle the collective wisdom of assessment leaders in education preparation in one manuscript for both novice and experienced assessment directors this volume offers insightful perspectives and excellent strategies to facilitate the journey from complying with external expectations to strategically using data and evidence to achieve goals leveraging assessment to achieve socially just outcomes involving multiple voices and interpreters and opening windows to further inquiry the editors have gathered experts in all phases of the assessment process and organized their work in an easy to follow manner this work provides both conceptual underpinnings of educator preparation quality assurance as well as practical lessons learned that will support the transformation of an assessment professional into an assessment leader ensorsements finally a book that shows what we can learn from accreditation collectively the strength of the volume lies in the concrete examples of evaluation and improvement that are woven throughout the chapters effectively using data for educator preparation improvement is a welcome addition to the small but growing body of useful literature related to quality assurance work in the field mark lacelle peterson ed d president and ceo association for advancing quality in educator preparation the volume effectively using data for educator preparation program improvement provides many examples of how providers collect data and evidence to establish or enhance quality assurance the publication will be of value to any provider seeking to enhance quality and improve their programs the publication is particularly timely given many state efforts to increase enrollments and diversity which have resulted in lowered standards having measures and evidence of quality provide a necessary counter balance to these efforts christopher koch ed d president council for the accreditation of educator preparation effectively using data for educator preparation program improvement assists educators in data informed research and practice to improve programs diversify the profession and ensure that our teacher candidates are profession ready written predominantly for the assessment director or leaders as the editors posit this volume goes beyond that goal to add a valuable resource for all of us who care about the field of educator preparation i highly recommend this book to the field as we work together to elevate the teaching profession lynn m gangone ed d president ceo american association of colleges for teacher education
