part travelogue part autobiography the road to mecca is the compelling story of a western journalist and adventurer who converted to islam in the early twentieth century a spiritual and literary counterpart of wilfred thesiger and a contemporary of t e lawrence lawrence of arabia muhammad asad journeyed around the middle east afghanistan and india this is an account of asad s adventures in arabia his inner awakening and his relationships with nomads and royalty alike set in the wake of the first world war it can be read on many levels as a eulogy to a lost world and as the poignant account of a man's search for meaning it is also a love story defying convention and steeped in loss with its evocative descriptions and profound insights on the islamic world the road to mecca is a work of immense value today wolfe does an exemplary job of detailing the ceremonies performed at mecca and the reasons behind them highly recommended library journal starred review this updated and expanded edition of one thousand roads to mecca collects significant works by observant travel writers from the east and west over the last ten centuries including two new contemporary narratives creating a comprehensive multifaceted literary portrait of the enduring tradition since its inception in the seventh century the pilgrimage to mecca has been the central theme in a large body of islamic travel literature beginning with the european renaissance it has also been the subject for a handful of adventurous writers from the west who through conversion or connivance managed to slip inside the walls of a city forbidden to non muslims these very different literary traditions form distinct impressions of a spirited conversation in which mecca is the common destination and islam the common subject of inquiry along with an introduction by reza aslan featured writers include ibn battuta j l burckhardt sir richard burton the begum of bhopal john f keane winifred stegar muhammad asad lady evelyn cobbald jalal al e ahmad and malcolm x one thousand roads to mecca is a historically geographically and ethnically diverse collection of travel writing that adds substantially to the literature of islam and the west serves as an excellent introduction to a religion people culture and philosophy santa cruz sentinel
