Formulaic ways to train students in composition and rhetoric are no longer effective say authors Robert L. Davis and Mark F. Shadle. Scholar teachers must instead reinvent the field from the inside. Teaching Multiwriting: Researching and Composing with Multiple Genres, Media, Disciplines, and Cultures presents just such a reinvention with multiwriting, an alternative open approach to composition seeking to open the minds of both writers and readers to new understandings. The authors argue for the supplanting of the outdated research paper assignment with research projects that use multiple forms to explore questions that cannot be fully answered. This innovative volume geared to composition teachers at all levels includes sixteen helpful illustrations and provides classroom exercises and projects for each chapter.

Includes beginning Sept 15, 1954 and on the 15th of each month Sept-May a special section. School Library Journal ISSN 0000-0035 called Junior Libraries 1954-May 1961 also issued separately.

A scholar's search for her husband unfolds a hallucinatory tale of vengeance in a mystery illustrated by the artist and author of The Tattooed Map. When her journalist husband suddenly goes missing, art historian Helen Martin travels to Vienna to find him but soon after her arrival she finds herself entering a strange world of twilight dream logic and danger. Traveling by train with a mysterious box of wonders, Helen's search for her husband takes her headlong into a tense mystery with provocative links to the past. The clues Helen must piece together—jewels, notes, ancient anatomy texts—are all presented to the reader in Barbara Hodgson's illustrations. Both a complex thriller and an investigation of the senses, The Sensualist explores the limitations of looking and the boundless power of seeing.
