this book examines the extent to which peacebuilding processes such as disarmament demobilization and reintegration are possible in the attempt to demilitarize nigeria s oil region and establish a stable post conflict environment for nurturing durable peace the book argues that the failure of the peacebuilders to address the structural tensions at the heart of insurgency along with competition for access to the material benefits of peacebuilding have revived violence at repeated intervals that punctuates the progression of peace the author s analysis shows how the interventions pursued by peacebuilders have been successful in stabilizing the oil region by taking arms from insurgents paying them monthly allowances and building their capacity to reintegrate into society through a range of transformational processes while these interventions are praiseworthy they have transformed the political realities of peacebuilding into an economic enterprise that makes recourse to violence a lucrative endeavour as identity groups frequently mobilize insurgency targeting oil infrastructure to compel the state to enter into negotiations with them there was little consideration for the impact corruption might have on the peacebuilding process as corruption becomes entrenched it fosters exclusion and anger leading to further conflict the book proposes pathways to positive peacebuilding in nigeria s oil region the book provides a comprehensive overview of the literature on religion conflict and peacebuilding with a focus on structural and cultural violence the volume also offers a cutting edge interdisciplinary reframing of the scope of scholarship in the field
