and in the shadow of the major civilization before it disappeared in its turn how many other cultures have perished without a trace this immense tragedy is being lived now by many cultures with great intensity one has to belong to such a culture in course of extinction or dying slowly even before its flourishing to understand the infinite distress of those who are helplessly watching the inexorable disappearance of their most precious values with each dying culture it is a unique flower that is withering never to bloom again an incomparable fragrance that fades away forever there is in the smallest idioms there is in the weltanschauung of the smallest tribe doomed to extinction treasures of wisdom and poetry lost lost for all eternity in the life of peoples as in the whole creation the most striking thing that actually shocks the mind is the infinite waste of nature those who at present are fortunate enough to belong to the universal cultures may still live with the illusion of their perpetuity one may state Dilthey's significance in most general fashion by characterizing his work as the first thorough going and sophisticated confrontation of history with positivism and natural science Dilthey's sweep was universal he strove to reduce to order the multifarious realms of knowledge the conflicting traditions of cultural study that he had embraced thus Dilthey laid out a program that no mortal and certainly no one whose mind had been formed in the third quarter of the nineteenth century could hope to bring to completion yet despite its inconclusiveness Dilthey's work exerted enormous influence the distinction he had drawn between natural and cultural science became standard for historians and to a lesser extent for social scientists also after Dilthey historians no longer needed to apologize for the unscientific character of their discipline they understood why its methods could never be quite the same as those of natural science and the contemporary tradition of intellectual history grew naturally out of Dilthey's teaching H. Stuart Hughes
