the sacred heart is as simeon prophesied of jesus himself signum cui contradicetur like the title of his blessed mother who is in very truth mother of god it has drawn to itself all the assaults of heresy for it is a divine test of faith in the mystery of the word made flesh ut revelentur ex multis cordibus cogitationes those who have trusted with a yearning hope that the faith of englishmen in the incarnation at least was firm and clear were saddened and silenced when the pilgrimage to paray le monial elicited from some of the highest sources of the established religion a profession of simple nestorianism it was then that the first fifty pages in this book were published having been out of print for some time they are now reprinted as the doctrinal foundation of all that follows the devotion of the sacred heart has two aspects the one as the centre of all dogma the other as the source of the deepest devotion in this latter aspect it reveals to us the personal love of our divine redeemer towards each and every one for whom he died it is a manifestation of his pity tenderness compassion and mercy to sinners and to penitents nevertheless its chief characteristic and its dominant note is his disappointment at the returns we make to him for his love and above all his divine displeasure at the faults and sins of those who are specially consecrated at his service he seems to be sadly upbraiding us with the three doubting questions which he put to peter lovest thou me and to be looking upon us as he turned and looked on him when he had thrice denied his master into this part of the devotion of the sacred heart i have not ventured it has already been treated so profusely by others and by many of whom i have only to learn it is in itself so deep and intimately related to the personal life and mind of each that i have always felt it better to use but few suggestive words rather than to draw out devotional acts which to the writer are no doubt spontaneous natural and real but to the reader may be a burden like saul s armour to david in the following pages therefore i have intentionally confined myself to the dogmatic side of the devotion and for the following reasons i believe firmly that when divine truth is fully and duly apprehended it generates devotion that one cause of shallowness in the spiritual life is a superficial apprehension of the dogma of the incarnation and that one divine purpose in the institution and diffusion of the devotion of the sacred heart in these last times is to reawaken in the minds of men the consciousness of their personal relation to a divine master he has foretold the dimness and coldness of these latter days the son of man when he cometh shall he find think you faith on the earth s luke xviii 8 because iniquity hath abounded the charity of many shall grow cold s matt xxiv 12 in that day the disciples of the sacred heart at least will know whom they have believed globalization has taken the world by storm and has facilitated the unprecedented migrations of the peoples of this world whether we like it or not we will meet foreigners in our communities schools universities buses and other public places but when people migrate they take their religions with them if people of different religious traditions are to live side by side amicably interfaith dialogue becomes imperative but for people to be able to speak about their own religions with enlightenment and listen to other people s religious beliefs with respect they must have some basic knowledge of how faiths and believers operate because for some people religion is inseparably intertwined with their economics politics and everyday lives this book clearly and concisely introduces religious studies to the reader it makes a strong case for the quest and study of world religions and explores the challenges controversies and methodological issues in the study of religions it also explores other pertinent religious issues such as beliefs rituals myths sacredness morality the problem of evil and interreligious dialogue although written from a classroom perspective this book can be useful to any reader who would like to acquire knowledge of religious issues this book is neither a deriding of the worldly profane nor a splitting up of reality into a supposedly unholy realm over against one which alone is consecrated to god but something which threatens to be forgotten to disappear from the memory of man is fixed upon here namely that in this world which is given us as our life s environment not only does the striving to take care of our daily needs possess an obvious right as well the marketplace the economy scholarly research etc but in their very midst there is something in the fullest sense beyond our daily concerns god s tent among men the sanctuary where set off from the round of daily work the bodily presence of the eternal logos become man is honored and celebrated johann von staupitz is generally acknowledged as one of the most important influences on martin luther convincing him of the sin remitting grace of god it was this revelation that was to spur luther to formulate his theology of salvation by faith alone which was to lead to his break with the catholic church when luther was brought to task by the church authorities for his heretical views it was staupitz who was deputed to remonstrate with him and it was staupitz who sent a copy of his theses on indulgences to the pope despite luther's defection from rome he was to remain on good terms with the orthodox staupitz who was consistently at the forefront of reformation within the catholic church this book sheds light on the spiritual and theological beliefs of staupitz placing him in the midst of the late medieval reform efforts in the augustinian order it argues that as reformer sermonizer and friend of humanists staupitz was a major player in the world of early sixteenth century theology who had a profound influence on the course of the reformation building the human city is a first overview of the award winning yet quite diverse works of jesuit philosopher william f lynch writing from the 1950s to the mid 1980s lynch was among the first to warn against the fierce polarizations prevalent in our culture wars and political life he called for a transformation of artistic and intellectual sensibilities and imaginations through the healing discernments and critical ironies of an ignatian and socratic spirituality yet the breadth of his concerns from cinema and literature to mental health and hope to secularization and faith as well as the depth of his thought philosophical as much as theological led to little initial awareness of the overall vision uniting his writings this book while exploring that vision also argues that the spirituality lynch proposes is more needed today than when he first wrote
