this mapping presents a selected overview of existing research on gender education and population flows in the nordic peripheral areas these areas are faced with a series of challenges that cannot be analyzed nor solved without taking a gender perspective into account the challenges relate to for instance altered living conditions caused by global changes stagnated or negative economic development decrease in the amount of workplaces particularly in the traditionally male dominated professions as well as not least migration and depopulation which is partly due to the fact that the young people of the area especially the women move to bigger cities to educate themselves the challenges in question are not only significant in relation to the viability and cohesion of the areas but also for the men and women who live there and their mutual social relations

this innovative volume presents twenty comparative case studies of important global questions such as where should our food come from what should we do about climate change and where should innovation come from a variety of solutions are proposed and compared including market based economic and neoliberal approaches as well as those determined by humane values and ethical and socially responsible perspectives drawing on original research its chapters show that more responsible solutions are very often both more effective and better aligned with human values providing an important counterpoint to the standard capitalist thinking propounded in business school education people before markets reveals the problematic assumptions of incumbent frameworks for solving global problems and inspires the next generation of business and social science students to pursue more effective and human centered
