explaining the real world of mergers acquisitions and restructuring based on his own academic knowledge and experience donald depamphilis shows how deals are done rather than just explaining the theory behind them mergers acquisitions and alliances continue to be almost an everyday feature of the contemporary business scene yet at least half prove to be unsuccessful the authors show the contribution that psychology can make to our understanding of the merger phenomena how it affects organizational performance and how it affects the managers and employees involved mergers acquisitions and strategic alliances is intended as a guide to successful organizational marriage great emphasis is placed on the issue of cultural compatibility as it concerns partner selection integration practices and venture outcomes the book also focuses on cross national mergers acquisitions and joint ventures with the increasing economic activity within the european union and between the unions of other countries there is a need to know more about the corporate and national cultures in these strategic alliances the authors have drawn upon an extensive body of research based on recent cases in a wide cross section of industries across europe the book is unique in showing the actual effect mergers and acquisitions have on people and consequently on the performance of the new organization it will be particularly relevant for decision makers those who are involved in planning and implementing a large organizational change and those responsible for ensuring successful integration afterwards it would also be extremely useful for postgraduate management students personnel executives and management consultants companies that have acquired other enterprises through mergers and acquisitions m a have in essence become entities that are akin to the global empires of history in this book the author weaves a unique narrative that looks at both empires of business created from m a and global empires from world history in an attempt to answer the question why do certain empires endure for long periods while others collapse in a short space of time empires formed from m a or conquest have a hierarchical relationship of control and domination by a single authority or centre that can be described as a parent company or a mother country over another group of people based in a periphery that can be described as a subsidiary company or colony given their similarities in development and structure the author argues from looking at examples of empires in western and asian history as well as major m a cases that long enduring empires created from m a and global empires have a common cultural trait their practice of tolerance within their organizations societies while there are books on the topics of m a and empires at present there is no single text that examines the impact of culture on both this book is intended to fill such a void and provide hints and suggestions to those practitioners of m a as well as students of business and history who want an accessible non technical narrative on what makes empires whether they are of the nation or of m a endure and prosper
