despite having no formal training in urban planning jane jacobs deftly explores the strengths and weaknesses of policy arguments put forward by american urban planners in the era after world war ii they believed that the efficient movement of cars was of more value in the development of us cities than the everyday lives of the people living there by carefully examining their relevance in her 1961 book the death and life of great american cities jacobs dismantles these arguments by highlighting their shortsightedness

she evaluates the information to hand and comes to a very different conclusion that urban planners ruin great cities because they don't understand that it is a city's social interaction that makes it great proposals and policies that are drawn from planning theory do not consider the social dynamics of city life they are in thrall to futuristic fantasies of a modern way of living that bears no relation to reality or to the desires of real people living in real spaces professionals lobby for separation and standardization splitting commercial residential industrial and cultural spaces but a truly visionary approach to urban planning should incorporate spaces with mixed uses together with short walkable blocks large concentrations of people and a mix of new and old buildings this creates true urban vitality active 130 30 extensions is the newest wave of disciplined investment strategies that involves asymmetric decision making on long short portfolio decisions concentrated investment risk taking in contrast to diversification systematic portfolio risk management and flexibility in portfolio design this strategy is the building block for a number of 130 30 and 120 20 investment strategies offered to institutional and sophisticated high net worth individual investors who want to manage their portfolios actively and aggressively to outperform the market

one of the most commonly taught slave narratives harriet jacobs's incidents in the life of a slave girl is rightly celebrated for its progressive and distinctive appeals to dismantle the dehumanizing system of american slavery depicting the abuse jacobs experienced her years in hiding and her escape to the north the work evokes sympathy for jacobs as a woman and a mother today it continues to inform readers about gender and sexuality power and justice and black identity in the united states part 1 of this volume materials discusses different editions of the work and suggests background readings the essays in part 2 approaches explore jacobs's literary techniques and influences drawing on autobiography theory medical humanities and theology among other perspectives contributors also propose pairings with historical and recent literary works as well as teaching approaches involving visual arts geography archives digital humanities and service learning portfolio construction is fundamental to the investment management process in the 1950s harry markowitz demonstrated the benefits of efficient diversification by formulating a mathematical program for generating the efficient frontier to summarize optimal trade offs between expected return and risk the markowitz framework continues to be used as a basis for both practical portfolio construction and emerging research in financial economics such concepts as the capital asset pricing model capm and the arbitrage pricing theory apt for example provide the foundation for setting benchmarks for predicting returns and risk and for performance measurement this volume showcases original essays by some of today's most prominent academics and practitioners in the field on the contemporary application of markowitz techniques covering a wide spectrum of topics including portfolio selection data mining tests and multi factor risk models the book presents a comprehensive approach to portfolio construction tools models frameworks and analyses with both practical and theoretical implications now in its fifth edition neuropsychological assessment reviews the major neurobehavioral disorders associated with brain dysfunction and injury this is the 35th anniversary of the landmark first edition as with previous editions this edition provides a comprehensive coverage of the field of adult clinical neuropsychology in a single source by virtue of the authors clinical and research specializations this book provides a broad based and in depth coverage of current neuroscience research and clinical neuropsychology practice while the new edition is updated to include new features and topics it remains true to the highly regarded previous editions methods for obtaining optimum data are given in the form of hypothesis testing techniques clinical tips and clinical examples in the seven years since the previous edition many advancements have been made in techniques for examining brain function and in our knowledge about brain behavior relationships for example a surge of functional imaging data has emerged and new structural imaging techniques have provided exquisite detail about brain structure for the first time this edition includes examples of these advancements many in stunning color this edition also includes new tools for clinicians such as a neuroimaging primer and a comparison table of the neuropsychological features of progressive dementias the chapters on assessment procedures include discussion of issues related to test selection and reviews of recently published as well as older test batteries used in general neuropsychological assessment plus newly developed batteries for specific issues the transatlantic collapse of urban renewal examines how postwar thinkers from both sides of the atlantic considered urban landscapes radically changed by the political and physical realities of sprawl urban decay and urban renewal with a sweep that encompasses new york london berlin philadelphia and toronto among others christopher klemek traces changing responses to the challenging issues that most affected the lives of the world s cities in the postwar decades the principles of modernist planning came to be challenged in the grassroots revolts against the building of freeways through urban neighborhoods for instance or by academic critiques of slum clearance policy agendas and then began to collapse entirely over the 1960s several alternative views of city life emerged among neighborhood activists new left social scientists and neoconservative critics ultimately while a pessimistic view of urban crisis may have won out in the united states and great britain klemek demonstrates that other countries more successfully harmonized urban renewal and its alternatives this much anticipated book provides one of the first truly international perspectives on issues central to historians and planners alike making it essential reading for anyone engaged with either field this book argues for a durational cinema that is distinct from slow cinema and outlines the history of its three main waves the new york avant garde of the 1960s the european art cinema in the years after 1968 and the international cinema of gallery spaces as well as film festivals since the 1990s figures studied include andy warhol ken jacobs chantal akerman marguerite duras claude lanzmann james benning kevin jerome everson lav diaz and wang bing durational cinema is predominantly minimal but has from the beginning also included a more encompassing or encyclopedic kind of filmmaking durational cinema is characteristically representational and converges on certain topics the holocaust deindustrialization the experience of the working class and other marginalized people but has no one meaning signifying differently at different moments and in different hands warhol's durational cinema of subtraction is quite different from jacobs's durational cinema of social disgust while lav diaz durational sublime is quite different from kevin jerome everson's unblinking studies of african american working people the adolescent an educational perspective covers several aspects of adolescent's development the book discusses an adolescent's physical cognitive affective social conative and normative development together with an overview of pedagogic implications the text also considers other critical aspects street children drugs sexually transmitted disease abortion unemployment and juvenile delinquency from a sociopedagogical perspective subject specialists in the sciences of criminology social work sociology and psychology will find this book invaluable writing a comprehensive book on satellite communications requires the command of many technical disciplines and the availability of up to date information on international recommendations system architectures and equipment standards it is therefore necessary to involve many authors each possessing a good level of knowledge in a particular discipline the problem of using a coherent and unambiguous set of definitions and basic terms has been solved by including in the book all the background information needed for understanding satellite communication systems without any major reference to other textbooks specializing in particular disciplines the obvious consequence of this approach has been the large size of the book with the advantages however of practically complete independence from other books more systematic discussion of the subject matter and better readability after the required background information emphasis has been placed on the discussion of techniques and system design criteria rather than on specific equipment implementation or description of particular systems the book may be divided in five parts as follows the first five chapters provide most of the required background information chapter 6 is an introductory outline of satellite communication systems chapters 7 to 13 deal with the various aspects of technical system design chapter 14 discusses system economics chapter 15 provides a brief insight into some foreseeable future developments of satellite communications media theory has long overlooked the built environment and its communicative capacity how built structures and spaces convey meaning through material embodiment and symbolization architecture as communication advances the idea that built environments function as media of communication using practice theory in conjunction with the concept of style this book is anchored in three historical determinants the quest for perfect proportion in buildings the belief in architectural determinism and the ongoing efforts within other media to influence how those who experience built environments understand them ross eaman explores how houses schools places of worship factories office buildings stores malls opera houses plazas and parks have meaning for people as subjective life worlds architecture as communication proposes media theory that articulates the social construction of meaning as a unique way of understanding the built environment one in which the users and observers of structures and spaces participate along with architects and designers architecture according to eaman encompasses the multiplicity of communication as human interaction preparing people for what they are about to encounter signalling how they should act and selectively enabling them to perform their expected role using examples across many historical periods and cultures architecture as communication argues that we judge our built environments by the values they communicate pondering on problems of argumentation is a collection of twenty essays brought together for anyone who is interested in theoretical issues in the study of argumentation this collection of papers gives the reader an insightful and balanced view of the kind of theoretical issues argumentation theorists are currently concerned with because most of the perspectives on argumentation that are en vogue are represented this volume provides a multidisciplinary and even interdisciplinary outlook on the current state of affairs in argumentation theory some of the contributions in pondering on problems of argumentation deal with problems of argumentation that have been recognized as theoretical issues for a considerable time like the problems of fallaciousness and identifying argumentation structures other contributions discuss issues that have become a focus of attention only recently or regained their prominence such as the relationship between dialectic and rhetoric and the strategic use of the argumentative technique of dissociation in five separate sections papers are included dealing with argumentative strategies problems of norms of reasonableness and fallaciousness types of argument and argument schemes the structure of argumentation and rules for advocacy and discussion
