we appear to think about the world by means of the same mechanisms that we use to experience it yet abstract concepts like democracy fermion piety truth and zero represent a clear challenge to this idea in abstract concepts and the embodied mind guy dove contends that abstract concepts are heterogeneous and pose three important challenges to embodied cognition they force us to ask how do we generalize beyond the specifics of our experience how do we think about things that we do not experience directly how do we adapt our thoughts to specific contexts and tasks he further argues that a successful theory of grounding must embrace multimodal representations hierarchical architecture and linguistic scaffolding

this reader is part of a five volume edition and comprises an in depth presentation of the state of the art in word formation volume 2 concentrates on select aspects of word formation processes and their patterns including how they conform to more general phonological syntactic and semantic restrictions these articles provide new explorations into phonological patterns attested in the minor romance languages dialects spoken in italy the goal of this book is both theoretical and empirical first it aims to introduce non italianists to the phonological structures of the italian dialects including northern gallo romance dialects central and southern dialects plus a francoprovençal dialect spoken in southern italy and a catalan dialect spoken in sardinia second the collection provides readers with sophisticated analyses of complex and poorly understood and under studied phonological phenomena over half of the articles contain data collected by the authors and most of the data have not been available in english language publications the richness of the empirical material and the sophistication of the theoretical analyses make this collection a particularly important contribution to both phonology and romance language studies
