over the last two decades the israeli government has implemented policies for the development of east jerusalem these comprise urban revitalization as well as professional training and the promotion of entrepreneurship for the palestinians but how do these policies co exist under israeli settler colonial power this book focuses on the contradiction between the rise of neoliberal development in east jerusalem and the simultaneous continuation of israeli settler colonialism it argues that the combination of settler colonialism and neoliberalism allows for the primitive accumulation of capital to also occur permanently through deceptive soft forms more than this based on theoretical research interviews and an analysis of race and class relations in east jerusalem the book shows that neoliberal development is used to facilitate the reproduction of racial hierarchies settler privileges and the pacification of the palestinian residents where these outcomes are presented as the natural result of market relations the author calls this environment neoliberal settler colonialism and explores palestinians new acts of resistance that exist ambivalently within this structure a significant theoretical contribution the study highlights a new settler colonial and neoliberal sociability that co opts the exploited and oppressed

during the last decade of the british mandate for palestine 1939 1948 arabs and jews used the law as a resource to gain leverage against each other and to influence international opinion the parties invoked transformational legal framing to portray the essentially political religious conflict as a legal dispute involving claims of justice injustice and victimisation and giving rise to legal equitable remedies employing this form of narrative and framing in multiple trials during the first 15 years of the mandate the parties continued the practice during the last and most crucial decade of the mandate the term trial provides an appropriate typology for understanding the adversarial proceedings during those years in which judges lawyers witnesses cross examination and legal argumentation played a key role in the conflict the four trials between 1939 and 1947 produced three different outcomes the one state solution in favour of the palestinian arabs the no state solution and the two state solution embodied in the united nations november 1947 partition resolution culminating in israel s independence in may 1948 this study analyses the role of the law during the last decade of the british mandate for palestine making an essential contribution to the literature on lawfare framing and narrative and the arab israeli conflict this work focuses on the political philosophy and the constitutional transformation of the contradiction between two major nations in one land namely palestine israel while the notion of the nation state has permeated the levant since the 1917 british crusade into jerusalem the organic demographic actuality of the country s population is incompatible with the dominance of one nation in one land with the subsequent degeneration into the series of war crimes that began in 1947 to move away from this conception of a zionist state requires another methodology that offers an alternative to the domination of one nation by another that is rationalized by the myths of nation building promoted by the nationalist school of thought with an approach that is inter national in the root meaning of the term this book fuses the jewish bundist concept of national cultural autonomy with the process of constituent assemblies as an expression of the parallel civil societies that become an organic social construction codified in a federal constitution by avoiding the notion of the nation state this exit may then be named the no state solution
